OTTAWA, Ont., May 20.—Under smiling skies and a warm sun, Queen Elizabeth today stood upon the free soil of Canada to hail as "our greatest heritage" the framework of democracy and the foundation of liberty upon which it is reared.

The queen's address, the only formal public remarks she will make on her tour of the North American continent with King George, was short and to the point. Holiday crowds cheered her to the echo as she dedicated the new supreme court building to house the dominion's highest appellate tribunal.

Holiday Crowds
Holiday crowds poured into the parliament district for the ceremony of laying the cornerstone of the new structure by the queen and the inspection of the Canadian guards by the royal couple.

Ottawa gave itself entirely over to following at the heels of the king and queen wherever they go. Business was practically suspended and will remain so during the balance of the time their majesties are in the city.

Ottawa has given the royal visitors a good show of colorful crowds, miles of bunting, millions of colored lights for night illumination and their majesties have reciprocated by

PA NEW OBSERVES

New Castle is host to another convention during the next few days, the State gathering of the C. D. of A. Pa Newc is glad to extend a welcome to the delegates and visitors on behalf of the residents of New Castle. It is the hope that the convention will be a most enjoyable and inspiring one.

It has become necessary to do much repairing to the lower part of the front and rear porches of a home in the eight hundred block of West Washington street, because of the ravages of termites. It is reported that these pests inflict fifty million dollars of damage to homes every year. These "wood chewers" get into the house lumber nearest the soil and maintain contact with the earth through tunnels in the wood, so they may occasionally get moisture for their sustenance.

Sunday marks the 12th anniversary of Colonel Charles Lindbergh's New York-Paris flight.

Friday afternoon, a squirrel could be seen running toward the prostrate form of another, probably its mate. The dead creature laid on the street, close to the curb, on North Jefferson street, near Dr. Sankey's home. Although squirrels are very fast on the getaway, they too are in great danger, when they come in contact with the fast whirl of city traffic.

Yesterday afternoon's rain was a peculiar one, very little rain falling in the section on north and west of Washington street, but the East Side and the southern part of the city got a good drenching. Hail also fell.

Area

HALF OF STATE'S GUARD ON SCENE

(International News Service)
HARLAN, Ky., May 20.—With more than half of Kentucky's national guard bivouacked in "bloody Harlan" county and the pace of gunfire increasing, the U. S. government took decisive steps today to end the crisis in this section of the state's soft coal fields.

Both mine operators and unionists were apparently willing to make the current dispute a final showdown in the decade long war between the owners and the United Mine Workers of America.

But federal authorities appeared equally determined that the long strike be brought to an end swiftly before further blood is shed.

Already, in the week since the owners refused to accept a union shop contract along with operators in most other parts of the country and elected to reopen their mines on a non-union basis, one man has been killed, one wounded, two severely beaten and a score of others less seriously hurt in a series of clashes.

Latest Casualty
The latest casualty occurred yesterday as the federal government dispatched representatives from three agencies into the strife-torn area.

He is Eugene McLaughlin, 24, a striker, who was shot in the side near Dresden, Ky. John Padgett, a non-union miner, later surrendered to authorities, who charged he had fired the bullet when a group hurled epithets at him as he was being

There's a guest at our home we are happy to see, a guest whose room is a crotch in the tree, a rather unusual place I agree, but the guest is a wee mother wren. And she's built it with care out of twigs and old string, each morning we listen and my how she sings, and soon there'll be worms she'll be starting to bring, just like any mothering hen. We hope that she likes the arrangements she's made, it looks rather fragile and oft we're afraid, a pine tree affords her too little of shade, but the wren seems to know what to do, so we'll watch for the young ones she'll soon teach to fly, it's a matter of interest as each day goes by, the weather, ah yes, up to n is it dry and at noon was just eighty two.

Minute-Man Corps Goes "Over Top"

Take 18,000 Into Reserve Corps During First Year —To Increase To 75,000

EX-SERVICE MEN RESPOND TO CALL

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The army has gone "over the top" in the first year of its program to establish a "minute man" corps of 75,000 trained reservists, it was learned today.

Nearly 18,000 ex-enlisted men have answered the army's call, and entered the enlisted reserve during the past eight months.

The minute man corps, as it is designated by the army, is designed as a reservoir of trained specialists who would be called to duty instantly in outbreak of war. The corps is regarded by General Malin Craig, the army's chief of staff, as a vital unit in national defense.

To Add 18,000 Yearly

Under the army's program, an additional 18,000 former soldiers will be taken into the reserve corps each year until the full strength of 75,000 is attained.

Enlistments were speeded recently by a nation-wide appeal made by the army through the press and by radio.

Although the first year's program has been fulfilled, army officials said places are still open for ex-service men who can satisfy the physical and mental requirements. The corps is open to any ex-service man, single or married, who has been honorably discharged from the army, is under 36 years of age, and is physically qualified.

HONOR THE DEAD—SERVE THE LIVING

SATURDAY of next week will be Poppy Day in New Castle and in hundreds of other cities and towns throughout the United States where millions of bright red crepe-paper poppies made by disabled World War veterans will be worn in annual tribute to the nation's deceased soldiers.

The poppy, regarded as a symbol of our remembrance of those who gave their lives in the nation's service during the World War grew on the fields where they died and was the only floral tribute on the bare battle graves in which they were buried. There is a tradition in France that where men fell in greatest numbers, there the poppies bloomed in greatest profusion.

The poppies which we will wear will be made of paper with stems of wire. They will come not from the blood-strewn fields of France but from the shaking, uncertain hands of disabled veterans for whom the creation of the little emblem is an achievement. The money earned by the poppy sales helps place food on the tables and fires in the stoves of the little homes where wives and children await the veterans' recovery.

The Poppy Day distribution merits district-wide support. It is not only the memorial flower of the dead, but also the flower of hope and help for the living. "Honor the dead and serve the living" is the bright message of the Buddy Poppy.

FLORIDA CANAL PROJECT REJECTED AGAIN

Rejection of the Florida ship canal project by the senate for the second time ought to put a permanent quietus on a scheme described by an Everglades State editor as "a boondoggling extravaganza that would make pharaohs of the Pharaohs and their pyramids."

The senate's action shows that it can economize when it feels like it, although economy may not be exactly the right word. Economy sometimes connotes doing without things that are ordinarily worth while. But from that viewpoint, this project didn't have a leg to stand on.

Florida already has one canal extending across the state, sufficient for vessels drawing up to six feet, and it is 100 miles shorter than the proposed route through Jacksonville. It could be improved, if desired, at much less cost than Senator Pepper's waterway.

The editor of the Stuart, Florida, News contended that "taxpayers of the forty-seven other states should not be compelled to pay through the nose for a political project that Florida does not want, does not need and will not use if it is foisted upon us." The forty-five senators who agreed with him are entitled to a few rousing cheers of approval from the country.

A GLOWING REPORT ON ARMY HEALTH

Perhaps there was more than natural international boasting in the claim by Major General Charles R. Reynolds, Surgeon General of the Army, that the health of the enlisted men of the United States Army is now at the highest point in the nation's history and is "not exceeded and probably better than that in any other army in the world."

He reminded the Tenth International Congress of Military Medicine and Pharmacy, in New York, that wherever our Army has gone it has improved public health conditions, and has eradicated such diseases as typhoid and yellow fever in its own areas long before this was done in civilian territories. What our Army has done in Cuba and in the Philippines is well known. Also familiar are health standards set in camp.

Certainly men like Walter Reed have set an ever-continuing example, and certainly epidemics of cholera, dysentery, typhoid, tropical fevers and even influenza which in previous years have afflicted American forces are now conspicuously absent. Whether our own Army's health exceeds army health elsewhere or not, obviously military and naval authorities have valid cause for pride in the way they have safeguarded their men and by their public health efforts set a splendid example to many civilian communities.

LITTER ON THE FRONT PORCH

Washington, D. C., police see a new menace in the indiscriminate tossing of hand-bills, dog tags and similar rubbish on front porches and doorsteps of residences. The police say that this litter is accepted by crooks as indications that occupants of the premises are not home and hence a chance for robbery.

Police offered this viewpoint after there had been referred to them the question of a councilmanic ordinance prohibiting such distribution. The situation, of course, comes home to every Harrisburg resident who for months and years has been pestered by the handbill nuisance.

Housewives who can face calmly moths in the furniture, leaks from a water pipe, cracks in the plaster, the collapse of a cake and many another domestic infestation begin to lose patience when each morning or at the end of each day the front porch looks like a rabbit hutch from the litter of handbill distributors.

Harrisburg has a regulation on this matter. Dog tags and the like must be deposited where they will not soon be "gone with the wind." Some distributors try to observe the ordinance; others just as completely ignore it. The general result is unsightly and irritating.

The fact that police think a paper-strewn front porch is an invitation to robbery gives the whole case even an uglier look and brings a home to the public that there is another problem which is far from a satisfactory solution—Harrisburg Patriot.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

KEEP EYE ON TEACHERS

Three children have received their education up to the college in the public schools. The youngest has one more year in the senior high school. On the whole their public school life has been a very happy one and the relations of their parents to the teachers very delightful.

My wife and I have been impressed with the preponderance of praise these children and their many schoolmates have come into our home, have volunteered about their teachers. Now and then we have heard adverse criticism of some teachers—generally about human frailties, especially ridicule and sarcasm—but the compliments have far outnumbered the criticisms.

Those teachers who have held their students to high standards of conduct and achievement, in case they are fair, are the teachers most esteemed and longest remembered.

One teacher, especially, stands out as admired by his students. Two of my children were fortunate to have him, and one "to draw" him as home-room teacher on two successive years. Often his students refer to him with the words "my teacher." They like his ideals and personal integrity. He tolerates no fooling and expects the best of every student and does not hesitate to chastise a loafer or annoy a severely. Yet, he makes the offender like him for it. He checks carefully each student's program in the light of what he plans ahead.

Young in Spirit
This teacher is not young in years but in spirit. He guides and inspires his students out of the richness of his own life, character and personality. Money never will adequately compensate such teachers. They will live through our children and their children's children.

Unfortunately, there are some poor teachers and your child and mine have had a few of them. Yet, there are many more good teachers, some of whom are extraordinary. Let us parents keep our eyes on them and not be miserly with expression of appreciation.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A MAD "HORSEMAN"

Of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse—dread scourges of mankind—one has made all nations tremble—the Horseman of War. But another, the Horseman of Disease, has given ground before men's ceaseless, courageous conquest.

The cause of cancer still baffles science. A specific yet remains beyond the borders of human knowledge. Yet the scourge is dreadfully common. Public education has taught thousands of sufferers to suspect early symptoms of cancer and report for treatment. And science has advanced sufficiently against this Fourth Horseman of human misery to cure incipient malignancy by means of surgery, the X-ray and radium.

Only a few years ago cancer cost the lives of more women between the ages of forty and sixty-five than any other disease. It is still formidable; but it will be beaten, as some day tuberculosis will be beaten, and heart disease and pneumonia will be beaten, and as smallpox and yellow fever have been beaten.

Looking back at past triumphs, once deemed impossible, man gains hope. The victory of science over all disease is inevitable. So too, we may hope, is final victory over the Horseman of War.

WHEN I AM GONE
By James B. Borland
Winter will come, and spring and summer will come. The snows will melt, the birds come back again.

Each year the seasons will return, and pass. O'er paths of ice or June's white-flowered grass. The summer rains will fall, the rainbows glow.

The blizzards rule, the spring-time violets grow. As surely as the dusk succeeds the dawn, Earth's order will remain, when I am gone.

Yet as I go, and others take my place, Each running vainly in a needless race, I pass with hope that millions more and more Shall learn the secrets Nature has in store.

Turning to things that now they care not for— Truths that make manhood, ending hate and war. The things great minds should love to dwell upon. The secrets of God's world, when I am gone.

"Yes, I am," confessed the banker. "Good!" said the man. "That's what I'm paying you 6 percent for."

They bloom for me and are for me as fair as for the man who gives them all his care. Thus I am rich because a good man grew a rose-clad vine for his neighbors' view. I know from this that others plant for me and what they own, my joy may also be; so why be selfish when you, upon your neighbor's vine.

A very earnest correspondent asked me to utter a tirade against neck-scratchers. And as this particular genus of vulgarian really should be exterminated I cheerfully wielded my swatter.

Among sanitary people, head-scratching is a nervous manifestation belonging to the same group as knee-rocking, chair-tilting and drumming with the finger nails. Happily, it usually disappears at adolescence. Unhappily, it imparts sinister suggestions whenever it is manifested.

Dear Miss Markel:—Should a man ever refuse to cut a member of the sturgeon to cut in? Must a guest dance with the hostess, or is it optional?

READER.
Answer—No. When "cutting in" is the rule of a dance a man should relinquish his partner, no matter how unwilling he is to do so. Even if the hostess is too busy to dance he must show her courtesy by asking her to dance.

Farmers in this country are opposed to applying the wage and hour law to farms. If that law is ever enforced on farms most of the farmers will starve and loafers in the cities will not have enough to eat to hand. Who gets the benefit from Nature's arduous toil? The peach tree does not eat the peach, the corn stalk does not eat the corn, and the rose bush does not smell the perfume of its gorgeous flowers.

All the effort of Nature and its workers is for the benefit of others—the "fruits of their labor" are given to make for the comfort, life and happiness of others than themselves.

Thus, would Nature teach us a marvelous lesson. We should struggle and strive through the spring of our lives and accumulate knowledge and material things; and when we have achieved our goals, then in the summer time of our lives, we should pluck the fruit and give it to mankind in order to bring happiness and give life, and in so doing would we all find the greatest joy of life—the most complete satisfaction.

What's What At A Glance

Argentina's Meat Is Cheaper
President Says It's Better Too
Stewart Defends American Beef

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 20.—IT WAS to have been expected that President Roosevelt's approval of a big order of Argentine canned beef for the United States navy would evoke an immediate howl from our own livestock growers.

But what seemed to have hurt even worse than the actual approval of the Argentine order was the supplementary presidential remark to the effect that the southern republics meat is "cheaper and infinitely better" than ours.

Well, it IS cheaper. That is to say, the Argentines considerably undersold our domestic packers on this particular order. We have a stiff tariff on the South American product, but the tariff and all they offered to undersell us. Our cattle-men rejoice that the Argentine government subsidizes its meat exports. Possibly it does. Yet the fact remains that our navy saves money by taking that canned stuff. Eating personally a free trader, like State Secretary Hull, who is said to have inspired the Argentine purchase, in connection with his reciprocal commercial policy, I haven't much sympathy with the protective argument against buying from our Latin American neighbors.

But is Argentine canned meat BETTER than ours? I was brought up in our own livestock area and indicated his displeasure by letting the bill become a law without his signature. Now, when it is proposed to remove the remnant of this unsound fiscal gadget and to make other changes in accord with the best economic brains not only in business but in his own official family, he is found hostile and unwilling.

IT is an almost unprecedented state of affairs. For the sort of tax revision now insisted upon by Senator Pat Harrison, there is very strong support, indeed, not only in Congress but in the Administration. The President's own businessmen's advisory council is for it. His Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Hopkins, is for it. His Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Morgenthau, and the Under Secretary, Mr. Hanes, are not only for it but have been enthusiastic pioneers for it, laboring literally for months under the distinct impression that their ideas were in accord with those of the President.

FOR the latter's attitude but two explanations have been advanced, neither of them very pretty. One is that to agree to the Morgenthau-Hanes proposals, essentially the same as Senator Harrison's involves admission that the New Deal tax bill of two years ago was a mistake. It means retreating from a position and retracting some of its words. Apparently Mr. Roosevelt cannot bring himself to do that. Rather than do that he is willing to humiliate the Messrs. Morgenthau and Hanes and leave Congress without any recommendation whatever upon so vital a matter as taxation. The other explanation is that the radical economists of the White House "inner circle" who are against any concessions to business, have more influence with Mr. Roosevelt than his Treasury aides.

COMBINED, these two explanations account for the President's wavering unreasonableness in this business. After having, through his Treasury aides with whom he was in close touch, aroused expectations that the Administration would submit to Congress a comprehensive tax revision plan, he now, in effect, says to Congress and his Treasury aides—"I won't take what you propose and I haven't anything of my own to propose." To that the Treasury aides have said nothing, but Senator Harrison, in effect, replied, "Well, Mr. President, we will try to put through what we think right with or without you."

OF COURSE, an effort is being made to save the faces of the Messrs. Morgenthau and Hanes and enable them to hold on to their jobs without seeming too inominous and servile. The President talks suavely at press conferences about the tax situation, expressing the hope that "something can be worked out." He confers with legislative leaders and the Treasury aides. But it does not fool anyone much. The fact remains that Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Hanes have been let down by their revered chief with a heavy thud and in a public manner. After months of working with what they thought was White House approval, the product of their labor is thrown out the window and they are informed their views have no White House support. While they may express their if they like they are told they will not be speaking for the Administration. No amount of conferences and camouflage can alter the fact that a practical repudiation has taken place.

WHEN this first happened it was natural there should be some expectation that the resignations of the Messrs. Morgenthau and Hanes would follow. If this is all their work amounts to there seems no reason in staying, because it is difficult to seriously. Particularly is this so when it is recalled that Mr. Morgenthau has been quoted as saying in regard to his plan that "this time the flag is nailed to the mast."

Well, so far as he is concerned, the flag has fluttered to the ground and the notion that he will retire can be dismissed. As for Mr. Hanes, newspapermen still call him up and ask if he is going to resign and he replies in pained tones that he is not thinking of doing so. But he might as well, as he is definitely and probably permanently in the doghouse.

The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?—Psalms 27:1.

Words Of Wisdom

Believe not much them that seem to despise riches, for they despise them who despise of them; and none are worse than they when riches come to them.—Bacon

Small Boy—Mummy, where does the light go when it goes out?

Mother—That, sonny, I don't know, and you might just as well ask me the same question about your father.

Teacher (looking over bills)—You are driving me to the poorhouse.

Mrs. Chutz—No, you'll have to walk. The finance company has taken the car.

Due to the absence of the minister, Rev. J. H. Boon, who is attending the annual council of the Christian and Missionary Alliance at St. Paul, Minnesota, the morning worship program will be presided over by Clyde Bookamer who will deliver the message.

Certain Europeans should be a push-over in war. An athletic coach says they think it silly to keep doing their best when they see they are beaten.

Using "economic pressure" on wicker nations sounds easy; but when you start a fight with mere words, you've got to win if it takes a club.

President Willard Of B. & O. Expresses Appreciation Of 'B. & O. Day' Program Here

While it will be impossible for him to attend the day's events in person, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is interested in the activities of "B. & O. Day" which will be held here May 23. In a letter to I. L. Harper, general chairman of the day, Mr. Willard expresses his appreciation and good wishes to those who have any part in the day. The letter follows.

May 16, 1939

Mr. I. L. Harper,
General Chairman-CTP Group,
Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co.,
New Castle Junction, Pa.

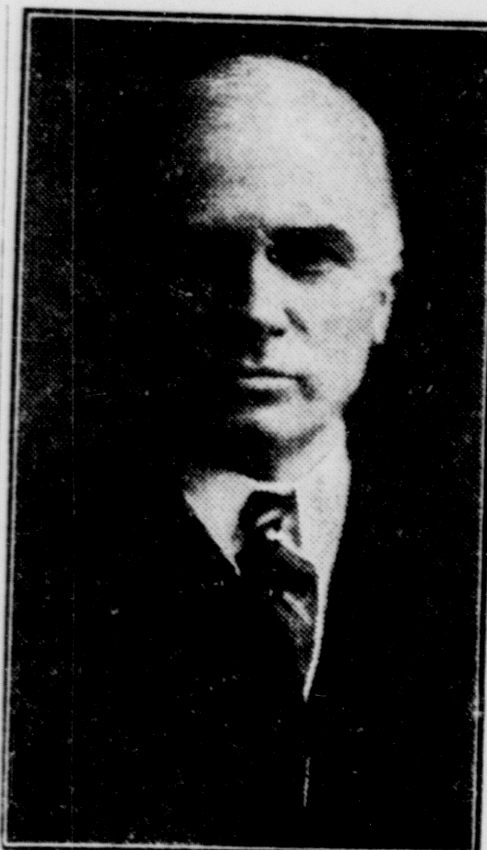

Dear Mr. Harper:

I am pleased to have your letter of May 5th advising that May 23rd will be "Baltimore and Ohio Day" in New Castle, and I trust that you will assure Mayor McGrath, the business and other organizations of New Castle which are to participate and our own B. & O. people, of my best wishes for its success.

One of the things I have prized most during my long connection with the Baltimore and Ohio has been the goodwill existing between the employees and the Management. Another is the friendly relationship which we have had with the communities and the business interests we serve.

In stating our "Good Neighbor" policy, twenty-three years ago this month, I urged all those connected with the Company to deal with our patrons as one honorable man would deal with another. I also expressed the hope that in emergencies the communities along our line would call on us first, because of our potential strength and our willingness to help them.

Although economic and social conditions have been very disturbing during recent years, I nevertheless feel that today we have on the Baltimore and Ohio more loyal support of the "Good Neighbor" idea, and all that it implies—among ourselves, our patrons and the communities that we serve—than ever before, and I believe that this is due in large part to the excellent results of the Cooperative Traffic Program, as illustrated in the full day's activities being planned for New Castle next Tuesday.

Such evidences of understanding of our mutual problems, and of interest in the Company's affairs, are most encouraging. Please extend my thanks to all those who have helped plan this occasion. I hope it will be a pleasant one in every way.

Very sincerely,
(Signed) DANIEL WILLARD.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It is barely possible that King Kong was just a toy monster. In the newly discovered Palace of Pluto, in the Carlsbad Caverns of New Mexico, they find calcified forms of reptilian shape, big enough to take the biggest dinosaur pick-a-back. If they are indeed pre-historic monsters, they will bring an all-around new deal in paleontology, and a general reshuffling of geological time zones.

Thomas Boles, superintendent of the Caverns, knows he has something but he doesn't know what it is and sends a plea to Washington scientists, including the Smithsonian Institution savants, to come to the cave and let the world know whether these horrendous creatures are petrified beasts, or just some more of those fantasies of limestone which abound in these dark sarcophagi of the life march.

One of these creatures, if such they were, could have used the World's Fair Trylon for a toothpick, and might have done so had the planetary time schedules routed

Right now in England they have formed the British Speleological Association. This is a cave club, the name derived from the Greek word meaning "cave".

In the caves of Yorkshire, Lancashire, Staffordshire, Somerset, Devon and North and South Wales you could crowd pretty nearly the whole population of Britain if bombs should begin raining from the sky. On Sundays and holidays, thousands of Brits are exploring caves—perhaps thinking how cool and safe and commodious they are, compared to the troubled world they all but conquered. "Pet-holing," the bank-holiday crowds call this exploration, or sport.

Better informed, and probably more nervous, citizens like long names and euphemisms and so it is they who talk of "speleology", but both groups have the same idea. A nice, deep, accessible cave, with only a small western exposure is an invaluable adjunct to any piece of European real estate in this day of grace. And it isn't the flying pterodactyls they are thinking of. No sooner had this air menace become thoroughly petrified before man got up his own flying dragons.

However, here and abroad, there is wonder and beauty in the great caves, and, as we know from Tom Sawyer and his guiding piece of string, fantastic adventure. In our kingdom of darkness there are vast numbers of "wild" caves, this being the name for the unexplored caverns, as distinguished from the "tame" ones.

The Carlsbad Caverns of the Guadalupe Mountains—as above—and the Mammoth Cave are among the marvels of the world. About one half of the national parks have fabulous caves and more than 1,000,000 persons visit them every year, marveling at the salamanders the blind white fish, crayfish and other weird translucent water creatures. There is never a snake or a reptile in any of them, but they lurk around the entrances, sometimes using them for a get-away, as we may have to do unless we somehow get more sense than we have now.

In Eddyville, New York, there is a hermit who has been living in a cave for years. In the great blizzard of the winter of 1936, an expedition went to rescue him. The old man was warm and happy and took in his rescuers and thawed them out. He said he was having a wonderful time, with good drainage, perfect air-conditioning and plenty of quiet and privacy.

Another Airplane Brought To City

Another airplane has been added to the fleet at the New Castle Airport by Murray Cunningham, merchant of Lowellville, O. He plans to use the New Castle Airport as his flying base and will keep his ship at the new hangar on the field.

Cunningham already holds a government flying license. He purchased the airplane Friday and flew it to the local airport. This new ship is a silver Taylor Cub. With the addition of this airplane there are now seven ships using the local field.

DOCTOR CALLS CLEANLINESS AND DISEASE INCOM- PATIBLE

Disease doesn't spread like it once did, for disease and cleanliness just don't seem to get along. I am sure there is a direct connection between this trend toward greater cleanliness and the drop in the number of typhoid cases.

Cities today have practically fool-proof water systems. Chlorination destroys all germs, and makes the water absolutely pure. If it weren't for that we would still have those terrible epidemics which used to sweep crowded cities.

In ancient times attempts were made to keep good water on supply. The Romans had a system that was surprisingly good. They developed public baths, and promoted cleanliness. But when anything went wrong and their water system became contaminated, they were powerless to prevent it. Out in the country, people got along the best way they could with any water they could get.

In the Middle Ages, bathing went out of fashion entirely. No attempts were made at sanitation and plagues like the Black Death would sweep through the countries every few years and carry off people by the thousands.

Man's span of life is steadily increasing, and one of the great factors in this, I think, is that we are learning to make greater use of water—pure water. Just to give you an idea how necessary it is, remember that a man can go without food for a month or more and still live; cut off drinking water and he'll die in a few days.

Medical treatment is using water more and more. All sorts of baths have been invented. For instance when patients are brought into mental hospitals, greatly excited and nervous, they are put into tubs through which water flows continuously at any given temperature.

The action of this water very quickly soothes the patient. It would be difficult to overstate the importance of water in the care of children. When the Quints were born, the first drink they had was water and everything they had for a long time had a lot of water in it. For the first few weeks of life a baby must receive about one seventh of its weight in water every day.

School Actors Score Hit With "Hold Everything"

Junior-Senior Classes Sponsor Play At Union High School Friday Night

Auditorium of the Union township high school was filled almost to capacity by a crowd that gathered to witness the presentation of "Hold Everything" Friday evening. Under the sponsorship of the junior and senior classes, the cast scored a hit with their show.

The play was a three-act comedy, mixing scenes with love and murder. In such a clever manner as to keep the audience on the edge of their seats during the entire show. Milton E. Pattison, principal of the high school, served as coach for the play, and its success was largely due to his skillful guidance.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

(Material Gathered and Edited by Student Reporters)

CLASS DAY

To date, Senior A's have exactly seven more days until they will say farewell to dear old Ne-Ca-Hi. Several weeks previous members of this June '39 class elected the following students to fulfill the offices of class historian, will, prophecy and knock-out on that memorable day of days—their own class day, June 1. Those elected are Betty Lee Raney, Joe Ross, Doris Ledy and the Paluszys respectively. The members of the committee for the class song announced that first place has been given to Betty Jane Spangler and second place to Billy Earl. Both of these songs are written to the tune of currently popular music and will appear in the June annual.

RADIO PROGRAM FOR MAY 24

On Wednesday, May 24, another in the series of programs from Ne-Ca-Hi will be broadcast at 2:30 in the afternoon. This week the program will be given by the music department featuring the senior high school band. The selections will be as follows:

STUDENT COUNCIL DANCE

Plans have been completed for the student council spring dance, which will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Ne-Ca-Hi gym. The decorations create a spring atmosphere being crepe streamers, flowers and balloons which are of pastel shades of pink, green and white.

The committees for the dance are as follows:

General chairman—Ginny Fredrick.
Program—Jean Dufford, chairman; DeEtta Cartwright, Audrey Bridenbaugh, Llewellyn Daniels and James Anderson.

Decorations—Aurora Nocera, chairman; Howdy Lyons.

Orchestra—Joe Johnston, chairman; "The Clark".

Advertising and tickets—James Cherol, chairman; Jimmy Nevell, Bobbie Maher, Bill Trent, Joe Johnston, Thomas E. Clark.

Refreshments—Gladys Stickle, Beatrice Saylor, Bettie Mae Wright.

At the intermission refreshments will be served. This dance, being the last school dance of the semester and also the last one for the graduating class, should be well attended.

SENIOR DINKS

At last the Senior A's have their dinks. Nothing feels better than to be a Senior A on the day that the dinks arrive. They have waited for 12 years for the day that they could wear their dinks, and they strut down the halls like peacocks.

The boys' dinks are on the order of sailor caps. The colors are green and white and each Senior A has his or her name written on the rim of their dink. A large "NCHS" adorns the top of each dink. The girls' dinks are overseas hats with two white streamers down the back with a white band around the bottom.

COMMERCIALS

FORMER NE-CA-HI STUDENT HAS EXHIBITION

We of Senior High School are happy to learn that a graduate of our school is doing some very fine work in the art world. This graduate of Ne-Ca-Hi is Fred Alexander, who is very young in the field of art as compared with artists of his ability, though he has been doing art work for some time. Mr. Alexander is to be honored by our school not only for his efforts in successful art work but for his determination to increase his knowledge of art. He is a splendid example of a man aiming at success in that he has "put his shoulder to the wheel" and is determined to win out with hard work and stamina. At present, he is exhibiting in the assembly room of the Public Library, a series of water color paintings depicting scenes of New Castle and Lawrence County. This show, worthy of anyone's time, and indeed an excellent exhibit, is being sponsored by the Lawrence County Art Association. We might also add that Mr. Alexander is presenting one of his works to the Senior High art room in which he studied art. We cordially invite the students of Ne-Ca-Hi and the public to spare a little of your time to see the work of a local young artist. The exhibit is open to the public each day May 16-May 26 from two o'clock 'til five. Many of the students of our school and former class-mates of Mr. Alexander have visited the showing and like it exceedingly. New Castle Senior High School is very proud of a product of their art department and wish him all the success and best of wishes in the field of art.

SENATUS ROMANUS

As a special feature of Open House, Friday night, May 12th, parents and friends of Senatus Romanus members witnessed a typical meeting of that organization. The meeting was called to order with Consul Primus Helene Edgar announcing that Helen Love, a former member would lead in singing two Latin songs, "Gaudeamus Igitur", an old medieval students' song and the Latin version of "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean." The singing was accompanied by Esther Schaller at the piano. Following this the roll call was taken and each member answered with a territorial division of the Roman Empire. These answers to roll call were arranged by Carolyn Cosel. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read by Scriba Helen McCommon after which a treasurer's report which showed a balance of over thirty dollars in the treasury was given by Marian Hughes in the absence of the Quaestor, Constance Watt.

Consul Primus Edgar announced that the next meeting would occur Wednesday, May 17th at which time plans would be made for a picnic for the Seniors enrolled in the club.

At this time Miss Mary E. Van Divort, supervisor of the Latin Senatus, presented the Summa Cum Laude and Magna Cum Laude awards to Kathryn Wilson and Marian Hughes respectively for outstanding work done during the Cicero course which ended in January. Both of these awards bear with them membership in the Junior Classical League of the United States.

STUDENT COURT

The Student Court is a new organization which originated this semester and so far has been successful. The purpose of the court is to judge who have discovered the rules of the school. A number of cases have come up before the court and all have been handled satisfactorily. Mr. A. C. Brown is the supervisor and the office of chief justice is presided over by Catherine Lynch with Jessie Gilbert serving as Clerk of Courts. The last meeting of the court was held Wednesday, May 10th, in the teacher's lunch room. Several cases were discussed and in conclusion, Miss Marjorie Rhodes spoke to the court.

ASSEMBLIES

Both assemblies were treated to a concert by the high school band last week. Group 2 had an assembly this week demonstrating better lighting. Pictures accompanied by a lecture showed students how to care for their eyes and general health. Today, Group 1 was entertained by the high school orchestra with the following selections:

Raymond Overture—Thomas.
Valse Triste—Sibelius.
Peer Gynt Suite No. 1—Grieg.
(a) Morning; (b) Asla Death;
(c) Anitra's Dance; (d) In the Hall of a Mountain King.

FRENCH CLUB PARTY

On Thursday evening May 11, in the library of Ne-Ca-Hi, the French club, under the faculty supervision of Miss Ethel Kelley, held a party. As each guest arrived he was presented with a small bag containing 20 corn kernels which he was to retain possession of throughout the evening. The success of the party was due to the committee composed of Mary Mann, chairman; Marie Miller, Mary Lou Travers, and Bill Ramsey.

The evening's entertainment was composed of various games, the winners being Isabel Paul, and Ed Portney. At a suitable hour delicious refreshments were served to the group.

DER DUTSCHE KLUB

The meeting of the German club on Wednesday, May 17, was opened with President Tom Wilcox presiding. Genevieve Wilk was appointed temporary secretary. Plans were made for a Wiener roast to be held on Monday, June 5, in honor of the graduating Senior A's of the German club. A committee consisting of Ted Sproull, chairman; Pauline Leinert, and Prentice Stenger, was appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

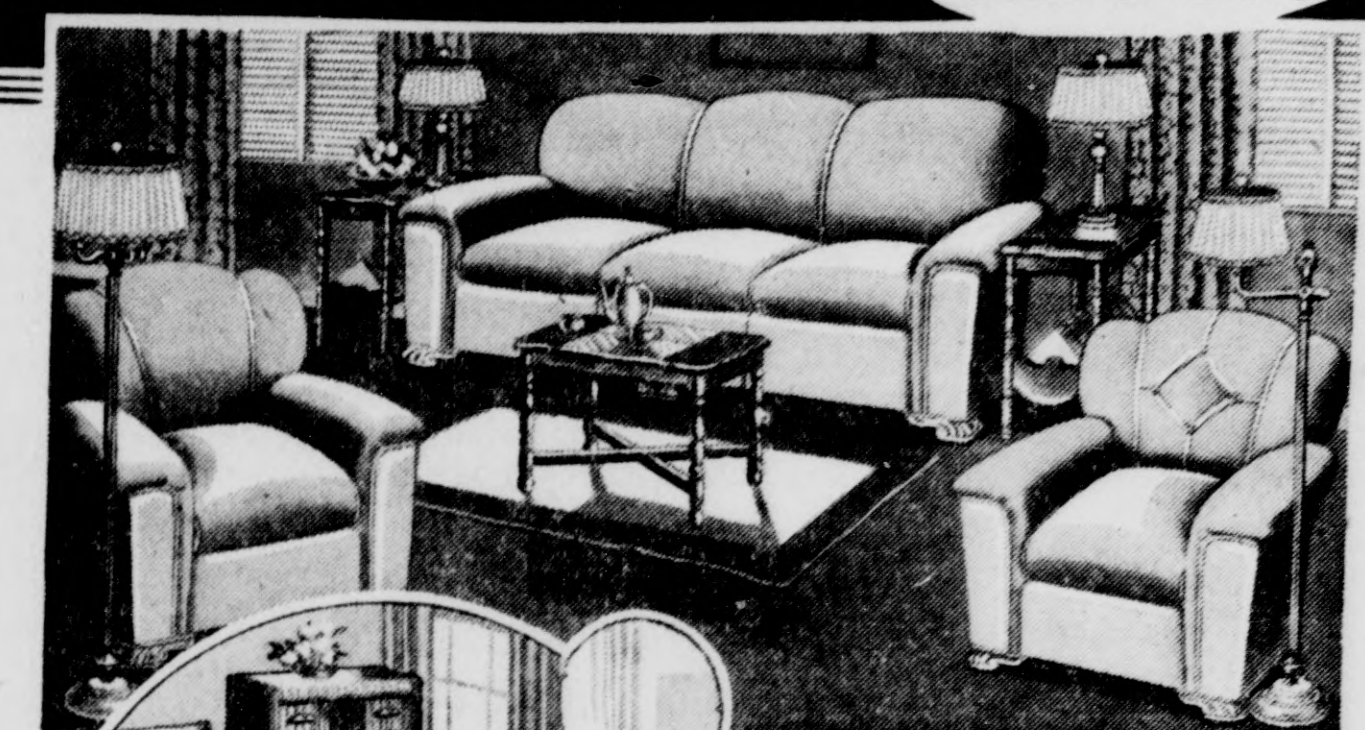

After the business meeting Miss Mary G. Riffer, supervisor of the club, introduced the theme of the program of German music. The three types of music were illustrated, the German folk song, great German hymns, and the selections of the famous German composers. Jeanne Wright presided at the piano and played parts of the various numbers while the entire club joined in the singing.

GIRL'S ATHLETIC CLUB

The Girls' Athletic Club held their regular meeting in the gym, this period, May 12. The evening was called to order by our President Pat Christman and the minutes were read by the secretary Joanna Hood. The treasurer, Marjorie McNicholas gave the treasurer's report. The meeting was then adjourned and the remainder of the period was spent in practicing dances and drills.

Would-Be-Suicide Held By Police For Observation

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 20—Joseph Twers, 22, brother of Frank Twers, 19-year-old Philadelphia who was arrested last Wednesday on his way to "assassinate the president", was held for mental observation today. Police said Joseph, brooding over his brother's actions, attempted suicide by gas in his apartment. He was revived at a hospital and then taken to a mental ward.

Carrying a penknife in his pocket and a rock in his hands, Frank was arrested outside the White House grounds in Washington and sent to a hospital for observation.

East Brook Girls And Boys Honored At Fine Banquet

Annual Recognition Banquet Tendered Girls And Boys, Professor Walter Biberich Speaker

Banquet Is Given By East Brook A. A. And Parent Teachers Association, 100 Present

It was a big night out in East Brook Friday—for it was the date of the annual basketball recognition banquet for the girls and boys who play on the East Brook high teams. Over 100 persons gathered around the festive tables gaily decorated in the gym and partook of a fine meal, heard some fine talks and then finished the evening by dancing.

The dinner began at 6:30 o'clock with the assembled crowd filing into the gym which was swathed in gay colors for the occasion. The large slices of well done baked ham, the big goblets of scalloped potatoes, and all the other eatables out of the way, Barney Patterson, president of the East Brook A. A. assumed the role of toastmaster and turned in a swell job.

Professor Biberich Speaks
The first speaker called on was Professor Walter Biberich, of Westminster college. He delivered a very fine talk giving the boys and girls many serious things to consider in the days that will follow their schooldays. His message was greatly appreciated by all.

Next called upon was Mrs. John Robinson, president of the East Brook school board, and she gave a fine talk also. Omar Fink, Jr. gave two very excellent readings that had the crowd in stitches, especially that baseball game attended by a very dumb woman.

Coaches Give Talks
Professor Ralph Watson, principal of the East Brook High school was the next speaker and delivered his customary fine talk. Charles P. "Bugs" Walther, News Sports writer, said a few words, when called upon.

Finishing up the program was the presentation of the letters by the girls coach, Marjorie Powell and Dewitt Emerick of the boys team. Both Miss Powell and Emerick came through with fine talks as is customary each year at the banquet. Neither the boys nor girls teams won any titles this year, but they hope to be on top next year.

Ladies De Fine Job
The following members of the girls basketball team received letters—Sophie Wallas, Dorothy Floyd, Sally Morrow, Elizabeth Scott, Nellie Morris, Virginia Fink, Stella Cwynar, Patricia McCreary, the latter was student manager. The only girl lost by graduation this year will be Sophie Wallas.

The following members of the boys team received letters—Edward Shuller, Merritt Downing, Alfred Gardner, Robert Wilson, James Valintino, Wilbur Wynder, Harold "Dick" Allen, Kenneth Reed, student manager, and Ernest Schooley cheerleader. Lost by graduation will be—Merritt Downing, Alfred Gardner, and James Valintino.

The following ladies prepared and served the delicious dinner—East Brook A. A. Chairlady, Mrs. Margaret Patterson, Mrs. Omar Fink, Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Wynder, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Kennedy, and Mrs. Waddington. Ladies of East Brook PTA—Mrs. Florence McCreary chairlady, Mrs. Grace McCreary, Mrs. Stunkard, Mrs. Kirk, Mrs. Kegg, Mrs. Eddy, Mrs. Kelley, Chairlady of the table committee was Mrs. Rena Mayberry. Chairlady of the decorating committee was Mrs. Morrow, and consisted of Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Louise Patterson and Dorothy Young. The gym was decorated beautifully, the finest that it has ever been.

Union Civics Hope To Stay On Clean Slate

Undeclared In Three City League Starts, Will Meet West Pittsburgh Sunday

LEAGUE INTEREST IS GETTING HOT

The Union Civics, undefeated in three starts in the City Baseball league, and forced to face West Pittsburgh Sunday at West Pittsburgh's fine new field, the boys from the Scotland Lane district hope to land the fourth straight victory. The game will start at three o'clock.

This looks like a rather big assignment at the moment, despite the fact that the Elders and Slovaks have hung defeats on the "Civics House". Manager "Stubby" Jones will probably pick on either Schas or Stewart as his starting pitcher Sunday, with Manager Danny De-Genova more than likely giving the nod to either Tonsetic or Powell.

The Columbus club will be up at the new Lockley field ball field to meet the Elder A. C., and will find the East Siders a hustling bunch, especially since they knocked off West Pittsburgh. Lamm is due to start for Elders, with Forjone probably the Columbus heater.

Two Lawrence Games Monday

Ellwood City will oppose the New Castle Hot Tots at New Galilee and Wampum will meet Hillsville at Hillsville, at 5:45 p. m. Monday in Lawrence league games. Bessemer will remain idle.

Old Man Par did not exactly take a licking in the Sylvan Heights league matches at the Sylvan Heights course last evening, but a lot of the boys were running him down. M. K. Gilliland, Louis Mails and Hackett Kennedy having par rounds of 36, with a number of others coming close.

Boston Hands Pirates Upset

Reds Virtually Tied For First Place With St. Louis Cardinals

YANKS AGAIN CLASS OF LOOP

By PAT ROBINSON

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 20.—With the season one sixth gone, every club in the National League still has a chance to win the pennant. They are so closely bunched that a short winning streak could jump the Phils from last to first and a losing streak of equal dimensions could plunge the leading Cardinals into the cellar.

But in the American League four clubs—the Senators, Tigers, Athletics and Browns—are virtually out of the so-called race. If you have any doubts about this, just ask yourself what chance a team like the Senators has to spot a power house like the Yankees nine games at this stage of the race and then beat them to the wire. Absurd, isn't it?

Tigers Demoralized
The Tigers have plenty of power but they seem to be demoralized as any club would be with such poor pitching. They had some of that sour throwing on tap again yesterday when the Athletics bowled them over, 11-6.

By contrast, the Yanks were rolling up their ninth consecutive victory behind the mastery pitching of Red Ruffing who, although pitching with a sore arm, was good enough to turn back the White Sox 4-2.

The Indians, with Hudlin elbowing, topped the Senators, 8-4 and the Red Sox hitters enjoyed a field day at the expense of those alleged Brownie pitchers, 15-7.

First Christians Top Presbyterians

The First Christians topped the First Presbyterians 13 to 8 last night at North Highland field in a warm-up church league game. G. Anderson did the pitching for the Christians, and Kennedy was on the mound for the Presbyterians.

The Columbus Reserves baseball team won from the Wampum Pastimes last night at the E. & A. Field 4 to 1, with Melchior the winning pitcher and fanning 11 batters.

Nobils Defeat Foleys 9 To 3

The Nobils took over the lead in the City Softball league last night along with the Gus Big Ten, by trimming the Foleys at Lehigh field 9 to 3, with Norm "Cannonball" Pishara doing a swell job of pitching. Len Turco featured the game, by hitting a homer.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Ancestral derivations of National leaguers. . . Bill Brandt, publicist of the National loop, makes known the results of a patient probe into the ancestral derivations of performers in the senior loop. Brooklyn seems to have a little of everything. Pete Coscarart, the only Basque in the big top, and Paul Paynick, a pitcher, the only Croatian in the loop, are with the Dodgers. Russ Evans, the only player of German-Welsh ancestry, is on the Flatbush outfit. Of the four Jewish players in the league Brooklyn has half of them. American players, not including a Fred Sington and Goodwin George Rozen. New York has one of the Jewish lads, Harry Danning, and Morrie Aronovitch is with the Phils. There are more players of German extraction than any other strain with the Irish second. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh lead in the number of kraut addicts. The Phils have Berres, Bowman, Brubaker, Heintzelman, Juelich, Klingner, Manush, Mueller, Suhr and Swift. The Reds have Frey, Gamble, Gehrman, Glock, Hershberger, Meyers and Walters.

Some 44 players are of German extraction and 23 Irish. Blanton, Gustine, Tobin and Vaughan with Pittsburgh are Irish. There are but two pure Dutch players, Brandt's survey shows, Van Lingle Mungo of the Dodgers and Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds. Pennsylvania Dutch players include: Charley Root, Cubs, and Mace Brown and the Waner boys, Pittsburgh. Boston's Jim Turren is Dutch-English. Al Hazel, a Bee rook, is Dutch-German, as is the Phillies' Max Butcher. The Cards own the lone Hungarian in the circuit, Ducky Medwick. Silas Johnson, also of the Cards, is the lone Norwegian. Russ Bauers, with Pittsburgh, is the only Swedish-German player. Jennings Pindexter, Phils, is an Irish-Indian scotchman. The probe also reveals that there are some 13 Italian-American players, not including a few rookies who are stringing along.

Shaffer's arm "fine" Local baseball fans may be interested to know that Freddie Shaffer's arm is fit as a fiddle. The pay-off came a couple of days ago. The local product, flinging for Louisville, lost the toughest game of the early season. In the opening frame, Columbus pushed loose with but one out in the opening chapter. Fred "muzzled" the Ohioans for 12-3 innings, finally losing a 13-inning 6-5 battle. The blonde thrower gave out but seven hits and was never in trouble until the 13th when the long fray was decided. This marked the third time Shaffer was called to the rescue wagon and, for the third time, Fred came through in a blaze of glory. Although he lost, it was gratifying to know that his arm is fit.

MARRIAGE LIKELY

BOSTON—People tend to marry those most like themselves with two exceptions—redheads and bad temper—according to Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of the Los Angeles Institute of Family Relations, in a recent Boston speech.

"Redheads don't tend to marry redheads," he said, "and bad-tempered men do not marry bad-tempered women—probably because they don't associate long enough to get that far."

ICE STOPS FROST DAMAGE

(International News Service)
ATLANTA, Ga.—Ice as a preventive from frost damage to young tender citrus and vegetable plants has met with success in Florida. When frost is expected during cold weather, growers spray water over the plants. The water freezes, forming a thin coat. The plants emerge apparently unharmed and without frost injury, according to Ray T. Sherouse, of the Lakeland, Fla., weather bureau.

Another trouble with this country is that a citizen can develop all kind of freak ideas and still be a typical American.

Depth-Bombing Convoy Britain's Answer
To Challenge of Germany's Submarines

England, greatly hampered by Germany's unrestricted submarine warfare during the World War, has developed its defense system to the point that she believes the island no longer can be successfully "besieged." Convoy strategy has been worked out as an anti-sub technique far beyond anything heretofore achieved. In picture above, at left, members of the crew of H. M. S. Bittern leave a depth charge over the side, during convoy practice off Portland. The bomb will automatically explode at a pre-determined depth, from the pressure of the water. At right, the charge explodes, scoring a direct hit on the theoretical submerged submarine. The maneuvers included exercises in submarine hunting, chasing and locating, as well as in depth charging. Submarines, despite advances since the last war, still have no defense, once sighted, except submergence, for their armor is necessarily thin and their speed is limited.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

D. H. Ricks, Acting County Agent

STRAIGHT CORN ROWS ARE NOW OUT OF DATE

The idea that straight corn rows are indicative of a good farmer is out of date, particularly if the corn is grown on rolling or hilly land.

If corn rows run up and down hill, they provide splendid channels for water running off the field. Eventually, these develop into or cause gullies. When this occurs, the farmer loses any feeling of pride he may have had for his straight rows.

Many of the more progressive farmers now realize that it is much more desirable to plant their corn in rows following the contour of the hill. The best plan is to farm the hillsides in strips approximately 100 feet wide. Alternating strips are planted in corn, small grains and hay.

Even though a hillside is not farmed in strips, the corn can be planted on the contour and this will assist in reducing erosion. It will also be helpful in laying out the hillside in strips next fall. For example, if some of the corn is to be ensiled, alternate strips 22 rows wide can be cut for silage. These strips can then be put into winter grain with clover sown the next spring. The alternate strips can go into oats or back to corn and the strip-cropping system is then under way.

In planting your corn this spring, a good plan is to run a contour line around the hill with a level beginning at the upper end of any old gullies. Use this as a guide and plant the rows of corn in the field parallel to it. Extension Circular 212 available from the local Agricultural Extension Association, 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle, gives simple directions for strip farming.

FARM RECORDS NEEDED FOR 1940 FARM CENSUS

The next census will be taken in 1940, and if farmers are to be cooperative to the fullest in this important undertaking they will need a good set of records for their farm this year.

The census will cover 1939 crop acreage and production, classes of livestock and farm products, uses of land, items of farm finance, expenditures and facilities, according to information received from the Bureau of the Census.

It is vital to the interest of every farmer and farm woman and everyone else than up-to-date accurate figures along these lines be obtained on a county, state and national basis, such as is done in the Census.

These records will be helpful to farmers in many other ways, and assistance in helping to start a good set of records on the farm can be secured from the Agricultural Extension Office.

ORDER SPRAY MATERIALS EARLY TO AVOID DELAY

Early applications of bordeaux mixture are most effective in the control of potato diseases. It has been found that the most satisfactory yields have been harvested consistently by those who have been prepared to spray when necessary and were not delayed by the lack of spray materials or an improperly conditioned spray machine.

Growers who delayed the purchase of their copper sulphate and lime until the arrival of the spraying season often apply the first spray too late. The first should be applied as soon as the rows can be followed.

Because spray materials frequently are difficult to obtain late in the season, it is recommended that users place an order for the season's requirements as soon as possible. To be sure that no injury will result from the lack of supplies, many growers ordered more than might be needed. Ordinarily, 8 to 12 applications of spray are required during a season, using 100 to 150 gallons per acre at each application. For the bordeaux mixture, 8 pounds of copper sulphate and 8 pounds of lime are usually mixed with 100 gallons of water.

Both lime and copper sulphate keep well if properly stored in a dry place in airtight containers.

making it practical to have a large supply on hand at the beginning of the spraying season. Copper sulphate may be kept from one season until the next.

GROWING ASTERS HARD BECAUSE OF DISEASES

Yellows and wilt are two diseases that often make aster growing difficult.

Yellows is a disease caused by an infectious virus. Elimination of all weeds related to the aster family aids in its control. Spraying asters with a 4-4-50 bordeaux mixture also helps reduce the number of yellows infected plants.

Wilt is a common destructive disease affecting asters. When once introduced it may live for years in the soil. In such gardens, it is suggested that only wilt-resistant varieties be grown. Most of these show 50 to 95 per cent effectiveness against the disease. Asters of the American branching varieties usually show the highest resistance to wilt.

Although the use of wilt-resistant strains will not eliminate the disease, sufficient plants usually will remain to provide growers with a satisfactory crop of blooms even on infected soil.

LOOK AHEAD FOR EQUIPMENT FOR SUCCESSFUL CANNING

When housecleaning is the topic of the day and cupboards are being cleaned, it is a good time to check canning equipment, according to Miss Julia Markle, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county.

Early greens, rhubarb and asparagus will soon be ready to put in jars. It is well to have all equipment necessary for canning ready and in good repair. Miss Markle suggests putting a list of necessary equipment in one place and making a list of any new utensils or replacements needed. She believes this will save time when the canning season actually begins.

A few well-chosen, simple, but inexpensive utensils will help to make canning easy and successful. Miss Markle lists a few materials that will aid in making the "check-up."

Vegetable brush. Stainless steel paring knives. Scissors. Chopping board. Shallow pan for washing vegetables. Metal cup with wooden handle or ladle for filling jars.

Jar funnel. Measuring cup. Measuring spoons. Colander.

Large pan for sterilizing jars. Jar tongs.

Small saucepan for pre-cooking vegetables and making syrups. Household scales.

Pressure cooker or hot water bath (with rack) or both.

Wooden spoon or spatula.

Long-handled spoons.

Glass jars or tin cans.

Covers for jars or cans.

New jar rubbers.

Tray (to place jars on).

Miss Markle will be glad to give additional information on canning problems or help to plan canning budgets. You may receive a copy of Circular 153 "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" by calling or writing her at the Agricultural Extension office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

SOURCES OF VITAMIN "C"

In general, a full measuring cup or glass of orange juice every day will furnish an abundance of vitamin C. So will half a large grapefruit or two glasses of tomato juice, or three large baked potatoes. A bowl of fresh green raw cabbage and pepper salad, a large dish of strawberries and many other fresh fruits and raw vegetables in salad will contribute their share of the day's vitamin C, according to home economists at the Pennsylvania State College.

State Motor Code Changes Favored By Vote In House

Huge Convoy Trucks Hauling Autos Would Be Banned After Jan. 1, 1940

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, May. 20.—In a post-midnight session, the house of representatives Friday cleaned up its calendar on measures delayed by the wide-open debate over the banning of motor convicts.

House members adopted by a vote of 84 to 66 amendments to the motor code decreasing that huge convicts, hauling automobiles from factory to dealer should be ruled off the highways after Jan. 1, 1940.

Rep. Harry Trout, Lancaster Republican, originally proposed in a general motor code revision that such convicts would not have to be ruled from the highways until Jan. 1, 1942.

Extension of the effective date was urged by supporters of Trout's proposal as a means of keeping 35,000 men employed in cross-country hauling of automobiles at work. It was argued also that many owners of convicts might be forced to scrap their equipment.

Leader in the fight for the amendments was Rep. Hiram G. Andrews, Johnstown Democrat, who charged the "state of Pennsylvania has been subsidizing the truck industry for the past 20 years."

By a vote of 68 to 65, the house adopted another set of amendments prohibiting trucks and other "heavy commercial vehicles" from using highways on Sunday and holidays except on routes designated by the department of highways and the motor police.

Given to the house was the senate-approved Tallman bill paving the way for abandonment of the general state authority's maximum security prison project at Mt. Gretna.
